New blood and old masters keep qipao dressmaking alive

Autres langues vivantes
FR

New blood and old masters keep qipao dressmaking alive

Video file
New blood and old masters keep qipao dressmaking alive

Lin Chin-te is among a handful of craftsmen in Taiwan who still specialise in handmaking the qipao, a high-collar, figure-hugging garment which was once part of many women's daily wardrobes, seen as increasingly impractical, the tailormade qipao is now mostly worn at weddings and special events.

Niveau
Cycle 4
Lycée
Thématique
Langues vivantes
Arts